Assessment Guidance

CASE STUDIES

Complete 6 x full case study clients of six treatments each.

Complete 15 x one-off aromatherapy massage treatments.

Complete 9 x treatments which may include alternative applications of aromatherapy.

These are an extremely important aspect of your course. They allow you to practice what you learn in class and to acquire and become confident with your knowledge and demonstrate this and your confidence to the examiner.

- 6 clients with 6 treatments on each client – including reflective practice and CPD
- 15 one off treatment –reflective practice not required
- 9 treatments which may detail other methods of application (e.g. inhalation, compresses, etc).

Start the case studies immediately, as they take a long time to complete fully, including the paperwork.

Follow the case study form / one-off consultation form format. You can add things if you want to, for example:

- Picture of a full body that you can circle areas of stress on each treatment and add notes
- More in-depth lifestyle information
- Listing symptoms of stress on each body system

No section of the case study form should be left blank. Information should be specific and detailed. You should look to highlight different information on each case study as too much repetition will not allow you to show full competencies.

It is important that you demonstrate your knowledge of essential oils in the case studies, so detail your decision making and final choices, and any alternatives, clearly.

If the case studies are not submitted on time you will be 'referred', which means that you cannot pass your exams until they have been completed to a satisfactory standard.

The case studies should be presented in a smart folder with the Case Study Assessment Sheet on the front of the folder.

You will be expected to show your case study folder and progress on your case studies at each attendance lesson as soon as you have started them.
